

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 4, 1909.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Feb. 4. President Needham, of the George Washington University of this city, appeared today before the Senate committee on agriculture in behalf of the bill giving that university all benefits of the laws making appropriations for the support of agricultural colleges, provided that it shall carry on courses of instruction in agriculture and the mechanic arts.

It is probable that the Senate committee on military affairs will shortly make a visit to the famous battlefield of Bull Run at Manassas, Va. Today the committee held a hearing on the bill introduced by Senator Daniel, which proposes that the government should purchase at a cost of $50,000, the land upon which this first big battle of the civil war was fought. Monuments have been erected on the fields to the memory of the soldiers who were killed but they stand upon private property, the title to which has never been acquired by the United States. The pending bill proposes that the lands be parked and that societies representing military organizations be permitted to do so under proper regulations. After hearing the statements of several persons today, it was indicated that before action was taken on the bill the committee might want to look over the ground itself.

Senator Nixon, of Nevada, personally notified President Roosevelt today that according to private advice received this morning from his state, the state senate would not pass the objectionable anti-Japanese resolution passed by the assembly yesterday, unless very materially modified. The senator does not expect any resolution of that nature to be passed. He told the president that the measure had been introduced without any concerted action, and without any conference between the author of the resolution and the party leaders. The president expressed himself today as much gratified with the action of the legislature of California and the pleasing advice which he received from the Nevada legislature through Senator Nixon. Among the other callers who discussed the anti-Japanese agitation with the president were: Senator Flint and Representative McClatchin, of California.

Plans for the statue of Baron Steuben were discussed today by Mr. Bartholdi, of Mo., with the president. The dedication of it will likely be in the coming fall and the idea is to have Representative German organizations from many of the leading cities of the United States present at the ceremony. Mr. Bartholdi, will, in the meantime, attempt to secure legislation in Congress re-naming Lafayette Square as Independence Square. He would have the equestrian statue of Gen. Jackson removed, and that of George Washington put in its place in the center of the square. The statues Lafayette and Rochambeau would remain in their present position but on the other two corners he would have a statue of Pulaski and Baron Steuben. The plan for the Steuben memorial represents the Baron as a drill master. At the base will be characteristic poses of the raw material out of which he constructed fine revolutionary soldiers.

Chairman Hamilton, of the House committee on territories, announced at the White House today after a discussion of the subject with the president, that he would on next Wednesday ask the House to consider the bill granting statehood to Arizona and New Mexico. There is an impression that the Senate committee on territories is hostile to the measure. When it was suggested that the bill might die in Senate committee, Mr. Hamilton explained that under the Senate rule it would be possible to follow a motion to refer to committee with another motion fixing the time to be given the committee to report back the measure. The information which has reached the White House makes it almost certain that the statehood bill will not get through this Congress.

General Clarence R. Edwards appeared before the House committee on insular affairs today to urge the granting of pensions to American officials who have served long in the Philippines.

Horton Simpson, principal of the Takoma School, was dismissed by the board of education last night. He is the man who admitted that he was the husband of Miss Abbie M. Coultry, who died from a criminal operation.

Further progress was made today between the State Department and the British embassy in the matter of reaching a complete agreement between the United States and Newfoundland on the provisions of the fisheries treaty which is now being drawn up. It is expected that the document will be ready for signature within the next few days.

The mandate of the U. S. Supreme Court in the consolidated gas case will be forwarded to the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York today. The case was against the gas company in the U. S. Supreme Court in accordance with the judgment of that court amounting to $15,996. The mandate instructs the lower court to dismiss the bill without prejudice.

Charles P. Naegel, of St. Louis, is positively to be a member of the Taft cabinet. This was the announcement that Representative Bartholdi made at the White House today. He said he did not know exactly what position Naegel would have but thought that it would be either secretary of the interior or secretary of commerce and labor.

President Roosevelt today told several of his New York callers that William Loebl, Jr., his private secretary, would be the next collector of the port of New York. The plan is to have Loebl take charge shortly after the 4th of March. It is his wish to discharge his present duties up to the close of the administration.

The House committee on military affairs reported today in favor of bestowing gold medals upon the Wright Brothers, of aeroplane fame, at a cost of $300 each.

Searches for Assassins.
Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—Posses of armed men are today scouring several Jersey woods intent upon the apprehension of two men, one a negro, and the other white, both accused of attacks upon young and defenseless women one a six-year-old child, the other a young woman.

In Gloucester City Miss Ella Carey was attacked by a stranger while she was reading in the sitting room of her home. The man entered when the young woman was alone. Her assailant used a powerful drug in silencing his victim and escaped before men of the family became aware of the affair.

In Woodbury, N. J., a negro enticed a six-year-old child member of a Polish family into the woods near her home. Public indignation has been aroused to a high pitch, and there is fear of a lynching should the offenders fall into the hands of the posse.

News of the Day.

Captain Quailtrough, of the Georgia, declared at his court-martial at Gibraltar yesterday that he was not drunk, but ill.

Charged with using bad eggs in their products, two large baking firms in Philadelphia were yesterday fined $62.50 each.

Slight fires occurred in the State Capitol at Albany and the State House in Boston yesterday, but little damage resulted.

By a vote of 48 to 28 the California Assembly rejected late yesterday afternoon A. M. Draw's bill prohibiting all aliens owning land in California.

Mr. Taft yesterday completed his trip of inspection along the line of the Panama canal and expressed his gratification with the result of the work of the engineers.

The "Lincoln car," in which President Lincoln is said to have ridden to Washington for his inauguration, was destroyed Tuesday night in a fire at Sharpsville, Pa.

Secretary Cortelyou announced at Washington yesterday that he had issued a call for about $30,000,000 of federal funds from national bank temporary depositories.

The Tennessee Senate yesterday afternoon, by a vote of 20 to 12, passed over the veto of the governor the bill prohibiting the manufacture of intoxicating liquors in Tennessee. The bill will reach the House today.

Mrs. Roosevelt was one of the visitors to the new Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore yesterday, when it was opened to the public for the first time. She, Mrs. Douglas Robinson and Mrs. W. S. Cowles went from Washington especially to see the Walters treasures.

The assembly of the Nevada legislature at the afternoon session yesterday passed the anti-Japanese resolution as amended. The amendments eliminate all reference to federal interference, but urge the state of California to pass stringent measures to exclude Japanese.

The Spanish Cabinet has decided to accept the tender of Vickers Sons and Maxim, the English shipbuilders, for the construction of the new Spanish squadron, on condition that the firm consents to certain modifications. The amount of the contract is $40,000,000.

Declaring that "if the government is to act with full efficiency against criminals, it must have some force of secret service agents who can act against criminals anywhere," President Roosevelt, in a statement made public from the White House last night, emphatically reiterated his opposition to restricting the field of usefulness of the secret service.

The indications are that the omnibus claims bill, which passed the Senate Monday, will not become a law. The House committee on claims has practically agreed, according to a member of the committee, to ask that the bill be not agreed to by the House unless the bulk of the amendments added in the Senate be stricken out. The bill contains many Confederate claims.

The constitutional democrat walked out the Duma in a body at St. Petersburg this afternoon, amid a scene of great disorder. The trouble arose over the speech of M. Rodicheff one of the constitutional leaders, in which he demanded that the government identify the victims of the terrorists' acts. His speech was a violent arraignment of the government. He was finally ordered to take his seat. The entire opposition thereupon noisily protested and finally left the chamber.

FIRE AT MANASSAS.
A fire at Manassas last night threatened the destruction of the block bounded by Main, Center, and East streets and Railroad avenue. The fire was gotten under control about eleven o'clock. The fire, which was discovered in the east end of what was formerly the Manassas Hotel, the oldest building in the town, totally destroyed that building together with a large portion of household effects and stock of groceries of George W. Payne, the owner and occupant of the building. At one time it was thought the Manassas Journal office was doomed, but by a stream from the railroad stand pipe, and the Journal office and the department store of W. N. Lycomb & Co., were saved. When the Journal office was considered beyond safety nearly all the machinery, furniture and stock was removed, including the press, which required the tearing down of part of the front of the building to remove them. Mr. Payne's loss is estimated at $7,000; insurance not ascertained. The Journal's loss, outside of its temporary suspension, is probably $1,000, covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

At 10:25 Lieutenant Smith received a telephone message from Mayor Sircle of Alexandria fire department. The lieutenant immediately notified George W. Payne, chief engineer of the fire department, and the latter directed that the Reliance engine and hose wagon proceed to Manassas. The engine and wagon were taken to Duke and Henry streets where they were to be placed upon a train and transported to the scene of the conflagration. Before this could be done, however, a message was received from Manassas stating that the fire was under control.

Presented to Grand Jury.
Baltimore, Feb. 4.—Joseph M. Janier, the wealthy New Yorker, who abducted Catherine Loersch, the 11-year-old daughter of his friend, was this afternoon presented by the Baltimore grand jury on the charge of committing a rape on his little girl companion. The penalty for conviction on the charge is hanging, life imprisonment or from 18 months to 21 years in the penitentiary.

A presentation by the grand jury under the Maryland law, is preliminary to the indictment. An indictment against Janier is now being drawn, and it will be handed down tomorrow.

Save Money by Buying Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
You will pay just as much for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as for any of the other cough medicines, but you save money in buying it. The saving is in what you get, not what you pay. The sure-to-cure you quality is in every bottle of this remedy, and you get good results when you take it. Neglected colds often develop serious conditions, and when you buy a cough medicine you want to be sure you are getting one that will cure your cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures. Price 25c and 50c a bottle. For sale by W. F. Creighton & Co. and Richard Gibson.

Virginia News.

A marriage license was issued in Washington yesterday to Cameron Cowan, of Midland, and Effie S. Beter, of Calverton.

Henry Fairfax, of Loudoun county, was yesterday afternoon elected president of the Virginia State Fair Association, to succeed Henry C. Stuart resigned.

President Alderman, of the University of Virginia, is preparing a statement in reply to the criticism on the award of the prize for the essay on General Lee.

Dr. John B. Turpin, who for eighteen years was pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Charlottesville, died yesterday at his home in Parkersburg, W. Va., after a lingering illness.

Constantine H. Robinson, of Campbell, Louisa county, father of Judge Clarence W. Robinson, of Newport News, died yesterday at the University of Virginia Hospital.

Landon Miller, a boy of fourteen years, on Tuesday last, while handling a shotgun, accidentally shot and killed Russell Blake, the son of Jett Blake, of Harmony, Spotsylvania county. Russell was only six years of age.

Mr. Orrie Glass, of Lynchburg, congressman from the Sixth district, who was in Richmond yesterday conferring with friends about his becoming a candidate for governor, announced that he stands for state-wide prohibition. He has not yet reached a decision in the gubernatorial matter.

Messrs. Davis & Davis, patent attorneys, report the grant, this week, to citizens of this state, of the following patents: W. T. Edney, of Franklin, sate-holder for logging and platform cars; G. Geer, of Richmond, steering gear for automobiles; E. A. Hoen, of Richmond, press for lamp-tobacco; H. E. McWane, of Lynchburg, meter-box; and J. R. Young, of Norfolk, mating complete fertilizers.

OPPOSITION TO CRUM.
Nearly four hours were devoted by the Senate in executive session yesterday to consideration of the reappointment of William D. Crum as inspector of customs at Charleston, S. C. Confirmation is opposed by Senator Tillman, aided by his democratic colleagues. Thus far there has been nothing in the proceedings to indicate that there will be a filibuster by the democrats against action, although it is known that there are a number of senators who are ready to speak at length in opposition to Crum. The republican senators are united in favor of confirming Crum in order, they say, that Mr. Taft may be relieved of the necessity of sending a commission to the Senate which has been opposed by the present administration.

The debate in the Senate yesterday, according to the report which leaked out afterward, resembled an old-time minstrelsy. Senators Tillman, McLean, Money and Johnston told negro dialect stories and kept the Senate in laughter throughout the proceedings. Nothing but the best of humor was displayed. Senator Tillman recounted a number of incidents connected with his various controversies with President Roosevelt.

Representative Dixon has introduced two resolutions in the South Carolina House, one condemning the reappointment of Dr. Crum as collector of the port of Charleston, calling upon the South Carolina congressional delegation to use its best efforts to prevent his confirmation, and the other commending the bill pending in Congress to prohibit the use of mails, telegraph and telephone for gambling in futures.

The latter resolution denounces the New York Cotton Exchange as "an oligarchy of wealth, self-created and self-perpetuated, holding in subjection to its will interests of ten southern States."

RACE TROUBLES IN PITTSBURG.
As was stated in the Gazette, at the Central Police Station in Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday, 120 negroes who were arrested last Monday night and early yesterday following a carnival of crime against young white girls in the Herron Hill district recently, were given hearings before Magistrate Brady. Forty-three of the negroes proved to the satisfaction of the court that they have honest employment and were discharged. The others were fined or sent to jail on charges of being "suspicious persons."

Yesterday afternoon a large number of negroes were indulging in much rabid talk. There is talk of race riots and bloodshed, and some of the negroes are predicting a reign of terror for the Herron Hill district. The entire district under police surveillance covers miles of territory. It is said the negroes are arming themselves. According to rumors yesterday afternoon in the affected district, should the authorities decide to make another raid on the negroes, armed resistance will be offered.

The authorities have decided to arrest every negro who has no visible means of support or who is known to be a user of drugs.

A radical change in the treatment of negroes by white citizens of the Herron Hill district is already manifested. Some of the women now go armed, others who were afraid of a revolver carry police whistles, and a majority of the men have armed themselves and positively threaten to kill the first negro caught molesting a woman.

A Black Hand Demand.
Millville, N. J., Feb. 4.—A black hand letter demanding $600 within two weeks has been received by Furman Campbell, postmaster at Port Elizabeth. The letter threatens if the money is not forthcoming, the postmaster will be killed and his house dynamited. Campbell is ill as a result of worry, and his wife is in a nervous wreck. Governor Fort has been appealed to.

Bitten by Dog With Gold Teeth.
Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—"Not every person has the honor of being bitten by a dog having bridge work and gold teeth," said Alderman Means to Martin Grier, 12 years old, who charged Dr. F. H. Murphy, a dentist, of Penn avenue, with keeping ferocious dogs. Dr. Murphy was held for court in $300 bail. The dog has a number of gold teeth in the front of his mouth, and three teeth are bridge work.

Death of Pitcher.
Boston, Feb. 4.—John G. Clarke, the former great pitcher, died at 11 o'clock this forenoon at the McLean Hospital, Waverly, of double pneumonia, and complicated with mental trouble.

Today's Telegraphic News

Arrest of Washingtonian.
Moscow, Feb. 4.—A man giving the name of Richard T. Stevens, of Washington, D. C., is under arrest here on a charge of associating with revolutionists. The man's passport bears the foregoing name, which he says was obtained for him by his father, Theodore Stevens, of Washington. A forced Russian passport, in the name of Vladimir Khabitsky, was found in his possession. Stevens had been under surveillance by the police for several days. Hunter Sharp, the American Consul, has been notified of his arrest.

Up to a late hour today no official advice had been received by the State Department in Washington as to his arrest.

Fires in New York.
New York, Feb. 4.—Two hundred guests of the Hotel Albany, in the heart of the theatre district, fled to the street in scanty attire early today, when fire broke out in the building next door. Brooklyn firemen were called to a fire in a five-story factory building in Emerson Place early today. Eight hundred girls in the convent of the Sisters of Mercy, a block away, became panic-stricken and were ordered to the chapel for prayer. For several hours while the firemen fought the fire threatening the whole neighborhood, the girls and sisters knelt in prayer.

Saw Steamer Sink.
New York, Feb. 4.—The first clue to the mysterious steamer which sank off Cape Hatteras last Sunday was furnished today by William Seigel, who was given passage from the Diamond Shoals Lightship to this city aboard the steamer Zala from Veneuela. Steigel says that about 8:45 Sunday morning he caught sight of the steamer in distress at a distance of about 9 miles inside the lightship. She sank soon after. She was a small two-masted, black funnel, black hull steamer, resembling the smaller of the Clyde liners. A heavy gale was blowing at the time.

Anti-Japanese Legislation.
Tokio, Feb. 4.—The passage of the anti-Japanese resolution by the House of the Nevada legislature has failed to stir up much discussion. The Nevada action is not believed to reflect national sentiment in the least. The assurances given by President Roosevelt, the defeat of the proposed legislation in California, and the action of business organizations in New York, San Francisco and other cities, declaring against legislation inimical to the Japanese, have fully satisfied the Japanese public mind.

The Fidelity Funding Company.
New York, Feb. 4.—Steps were taken today by Receiver Morris and Patrick J. Keenan, head of the Fidelity Funding Company, which recently failed for about $5,000,000, to evolve a plan whereby the concern can be put upon its feet, and the numerous Catholic institutions which did business with Keenan protected. These institutions will suffer through the ordinary course of the bankruptcy case proceedings already having been begun against several.

Floods in California.
San Francisco, Feb. 4.—Reports from the upper Sacramento valley today say that the flood situation had become worse, and that the inhabitants of the small towns in the vicinity of Red Bluff were fleeing to the high lands for refuge. The Southern Pacific officials report that traffic has been suspended between San Francisco and Portland as a result of numerous wash-outs. Several landslides are reported in the Tehama region.

The United States and Japan.
New York, Feb. 4.—Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German Ambassador, was the guest of the New York Chamber of Commerce at a meeting today. President S. R. Edward Simmons presided and extended to the German Ambassador the greeting of the business men of the city. He introduced Count Bernstorff, who spoke of the friendly relations existing between the United States and Germany.

Burned to Death at Fire.
Altoona, Pa., Feb. 4.—Several persons are reported to have been burned to death in a fire which broke out at noon today in the Thomas West block, and is still raging. The entire city fire force is fighting the flames. The flames spread so rapidly that the fire is believed to be of incendiary origin. The block was occupied by many foreign families.

Death of Railroad Magnate.
Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 4.—Thos. F. Lowery, millionaire trolley and railroad magnate, died here today.

GOV. HASKELL INDICTED.
Seven indictments were returned by the federal grand jury at Muskogee, Okla., last night, in the town-plot-fraud investigation, the charges being conspiracy to defraud the government.

Among those indicted is Gov. Charles N. Haskell.

Attorney Thomas H. Owen, of Muskogee, representing Gov. Haskell, made arrangements for the governor to enter his appearance on Friday and give bond in $5,000 for appearance for trial. The writs issued are returnable forthwith.

The government sprang a surprise yesterday when it was announced that the grand jury's investigation would be extended to include alleged frauds in scheduling "individual blocks." Many persons built temporary fences around whole blocks of land, and claimed ownership on the ground that these improvements secured deeds to the property. It had been supposed that the investigation would not take so wide a scope, but would be confined to the illegal securing of town lots.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.
The hearing in the case of the government against the E. I. Dupont De Nemours Company, charged with violation of the anti-trust law, which was to have been held in Wilmington, Del., today, was postponed.

The court martial of Captain Quailtrough, of the batt ship Georgia, on a charge of appearing drunk and unfit for duty at a reception given by Minister Gomere in Tarkier, was completed this afternoon at Gibraltar. The findings will not be announced until approved by Rear Admiral Sperry, which will probably be several days.

The "Katydid" breaker and washery in Arcos, near Saratoga, Pa., were destroyed by fire early today. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Feb. 4. SENATE.

Senator Gray, of South Carolina, today introduced a resolution requesting that it lie on the table, calling on the immigration commission for a brief summary of its acts, doings and present work, as itemized statement of all expenditures, a list of all present and past employees, their residences and salaries, so that the Senate may form an idea of what the work will cost and how soon it will be accomplished.

The Senate committee on Indian affairs today made favorable report on the joint resolution introduced by Senator Gore, directing the secretary of the interior to place on the rolls of the Osage tribe of Indians the names of certain persons about forty in number. The resolution was amended, however, so as to direct that the claims of these persons to such recognition should be first submitted to the Circuit Court of Oklahoma for examination and determination.

Senator Lodge offered a proposed amendment to the Senate rules providing "that no senator in debate shall refer offensively to either of the other coordinate branches of the government." It was referred to the committee on rules.

The change in the rules proposed by Senator Lodge is of course intended especially to protect the president from attacks similar to some of those which have been made in the past by Senator Tillman, and, perhaps, others, as well to prevent unwarranted attacks upon the judiciary.

The Senate took up the District of Columbia appropriation bill. An amendment increasing the salaries of the commissioners from $5,000 to $6,500 a year was agreed to without debate or objection.

A tariff debate was brought up in the Senate today in discussing the addition of $2,000,000 to the District of Columbia bill as it came from the House.

Senator Clay assailed the general tendency toward extravagance and said the end must soon come. He said the revision of the tariff was soon to be taken up. Some of his constituents were not so anxious for revision as heretofore. He recalled the time when there was a surplus of $250,000,000. That was now gone and a deficit existed. If the tariff was revised schedules must be so arranged as to equal expenditures. He did not see how duties could be lowered.

Senator Tillman asked if the lowering of rates would not bring in more revenues.

Mr. Clay said that was uncertain. If a billion dollars were to be appropriated every session enough money must be raised to equal that amount.

HOUSE.
Mr. Hepburn, went on the war path again today, envenoming an otherwise very dull and monotonous discussion of the agricultural appropriation bill with a flash of reports.

Several members, were carrying on a mumbling discussion of some part of the bill, while bits of conversation from members all over the floor effectually made their voices inaudible.

Mr. Hepburn arose to denounce such procedure, declaring that the gentleman were probably engaging in personal discussion and were violating the rules of the House, and at the same time demanding order.

Mr. Livingston, who was one of the members in the outburst came back against the Iowa by declaring that he was evidently in his dotage.

Hepburn was on his feet in an instant. "The gentleman has amiably referred to me as being in my dotage because I could not hear his maunderings," he said. "I noticed several moments ago, when the chair addressed the House in a loud tone, that the gentleman from Georgia put his hand behind his ear and said 'I didn't hear.' I submit the question of dotage to the House."

MRS. MAYBRICK WINS SUIT.
Judge Daniel Ginnans, of the Richmond chancery court, yesterday entered his formal decree in the suit of Mrs. Caroline E. von Reques, mother of Mrs. Florence Maybrick, against David W. Armstrong, a New York lawyer, for the recovery of title to valuable coal lands in Virginia, West Virginia, and Kentucky, parcels of which lands are alleged were sold by Armstrong to his personal agent for his own profit, while acting as attorney for Mrs. Maybrick and her mother. By the terms of the decree Armstrong is shown to have failed to make an accounting for $52,912.50, the proceeds of the sale.

The decree states, however, that Armstrong "a net shown to have been guilty of intentional wrongdoing in respect to the matters alleged against him in the complainant's bill." Armstrong disposed of the property while the baroness was hard pressed for funds to carry on the fight to secure the acquittal of her daughter, Mrs. Maybrick, who was on trial for the murder of her husband, in England, of which she was convicted, spending years in an English prison.

The aggregate amount received by Armstrong from these sales was $131,025. He paid the Baroness von Reques and other trustees under the will of Darius B. Holbrook, the first husband of the baroness, about $18,000.

The court orders that the baroness and her associates shall recover from Armstrong $52,912.50, as their share of the sum for which Armstrong failed to make proper accounting.

CHILD SEIZED BY EAGLE.
Josiah Oltreue, a farmer residing on the edge of the Adirondacks, in the town of Pittsford, N. Y., barely saved his 6-year-old daughter from being carried off by an eagle on Monday evening. For several days a huge eagle has been gorging itself on food prepared for a herd of sheep. Several times Oltreue tried to get a shot at the bird, but without avail. His little girl was about the barnyard Monday, when suddenly the father was attracted by the screams of the child. Hastening from the barn, Oltreue was horrified to see the girl in the clutches of the monster bird. The outcries of both the parents and child evidently frightened the eagle, and it dropped the child unharmed on the roof of a building near the barn. Quickly getting his gun, the father took a chase shot, but outside of the loss of a few feathers the bird flew away unharmed.

TARDY RECOGNITION.

After having reposed for almost a century in an obscure burial plot on the outskirts of Washington city, the government shortly will pay tardy recognition to the memory of Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, French engineer and captain and brevet-major in the Revolutionary army, who had an important part, under the direction of General George Washington, in designing the original plan of the city of Washington. Arrangements are being made for the removal of L'Enfant's body to Arlington, where a suitable memorial to him will be erected.
